

Out with the old and in with the new...sort of.

Some traditions will forever be a main part of weddings, but sometimes these trends are altered a little bit to keep up with the ever-changing trends of today.

For the longest time, throwing rice as the bride and groom walked through a tunnel of guests was a norm, but today these tunnels are lined with a variety of items. Instead of rice being thrown, guests will be given confetti poppers, flower petals, sparklers, bubbles, noise makers, or anything that fits into your theme.

So instead of thinking that throwing rice is just a thing of the past, revamp the idea and make it your own.

http://s3.amazonaws.com/rapgenius/1368451484\_bride-groom-rice.jpg

